

Our Rights' Warranty

What ever scenario, whatever the perspective, human rights are here.

They help you survive, even to thrive,

The Cause is always near.

For when they are violated, when they are abused,

It hurts even more than a spear.

But some people may help, care for the rest,

For human rights matter, they are quite sincere.

Human rights are guaranteed, no one is allowed to take them, the UDHR saves best for last with the one right that preserves them.

It guarantees freedom, the right to stand up,

It guarantees law and order, when justice determines a lock-up.

It lays a firm hand on anyone who rebels, who tries to take a way

The rights that bind us together.

All those who enforce these laws, these all important concepts, are heroes during those times, for they are our rights anchors.
