Ray,

Some of my thoughts for consideration at the 7/8 meeting which I will miss:

POSSIBLE GROUPINGS OF INVITED GUEST SPEAKERS. (I did 5 groupings but this could be split into smaller groups):

1 Law Enforcement:

- Sheriff
- Police Chiefs
- State Highway Patrol
- Co. and City prosecutors
- Code Enforcement
- Stop DWI
- Probation
- Jail staff

2 Defense oriented groups:

- Defense attorneys
- CBar Assoc.
- Neighborhood Legal Services
- OAR
- Assigned Counsel
- defendants (but not so sure how to contact them except by including them in the general public advertisement?)

3 Government:

- Mayors (city and villages)
- Supervisors (towns)
- Legislators - T/V/C/Cnty/State

4 Special Interest groups:

- T/V/C/Cnty/SCrt judges
- CDRC
- someone from a District Court
- Court clerks
- Media
- tenant and landlord associations
- merchants
- Chamber of Commerce
- veterans' organizations

General public (maybe do advertisement in media and on website ?)

INVITATION LETTER CONTENT MIGHT INCLUDE:

- a copy of "the charge"
- invite to public meeting to speak (but to any meeting as well)
- invite to send written comments
 - o expressly request new ideas with what they perceive as the advantages and disadvantages of those ideas
- and request reactions to the ideas being posted on the website
- give some expectation of the time allowed for oral comments (and I am not quite sure how much time we should permit and how to structure the comment period)

WEB SITE

Also, the web site issues involving website mechanics/policies+, such as:

- who/how do we edit the basic idea summaries with the lists of advantages and disadvantages
- how do we also include the narrative comments by outsiders

Not a problem, Glenn. However, we certainly will appreciate your comments. You have good, practical insight. Have a great holiday weekend.
